M.L. Manich reminded members that historical monuments in places such as Ayudhya were also in need of preservation and hoped that members would give thought to these matters as well as to animals and trees.

7. Any Other Business.

- a. Kamthieng House wall.

Mr. Martin told members that the outgoing Council proposed that the sum of 10,181.54 baht subscribed by members to build a wall on the Society's property next to the Kamthieng House be transferred to General Funds since the sum was inadequate. The wall had been proposed because there had been a fire in the recording studio next door but since the studio was not to be rebuilt the fear of a fire there no longer existed. The proposal was approved.

- b. The outgoing Council proposed that persons who applied for ordinary membership of the Society after June 30th in any year should pay half the Annual Subscription instead of a full Subscription and receive only one issue of the Journal instead of two. Under Rule 9 the Council had power to do this without reference to a General Meeting but wished to have confirmation from the Meeting. This was approved.

Since there was no further business, the President adjourned the meeting which was followed by the film "Ancient Siamese Dancing", courtesy of the Fine Arts Department, and films by Mr. Banchong Kosalwat of Thammasat University.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE EDITORIAL AND PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

1. Journal of the Siam Society

The two numbers published in 1972-1973 together came to 773 pages.

Mr. Alexander B. Griswold, as usual, contributed most generously towards printing costs with grants from the Breezewood Foundation.

Revenue from advertisements has helped to off-set increased expenditure, but more is needed and further efforts in this direction will be made in the course of 1973-1974.

2. Reprint

Prince Damrong Rajanubhab, The History of Buddhist Monuments in Siam. The Readers have completed their task. The Asia Foundation has kindly agreed to finance the reprint as it had originally financed the first edition of the book. The publication will appear in the course of 1973.

3. Book accepted for publication

Stephanie Krebs, with the collaboration of Banchong Kosalwat, Nang Yai: Thai Shadow Drama. This essay was written to accompany the English version of the film "Nang Yai : Thai Shadow Puppet Drama", based on the Nang Yai performance at the Siam Society on 8 March 1972. The publication will be sponsored by the Ford Foundation and will appear in the course of 1973.

4. Book submitted for publication

i. Nusit Chindarsi's Thesis, "The Religion of the Blue Meo", Sydney University, is now with a Reader. The question of a subsidy for the publication is likely to have a favourable outcome.

ii. R.H. Hickling, The Codification of Siamese Law 1897-1935, is under consideration.

5. Committee Members

The Honorary Editor has not made use of a properly constituted committee but has sought advice from the following: Dr. Thaemsook Numnonda, Chiangmai University, Dr. Laurence D. Stifel, Thammasat University, Dr. Roger M. Smith, Cornell University, Dr. Kamol Somvi-chien, Chulalongkorn University, and Hiram W. Woodward Jr., Michigan University.

Mr. Pairoj Vikiniyatane and Sarah W. Trench have helped the Honorary Editor as Honorary Assistant Editors at one time or other during the course of 1972-1973.

Mr. Euayporn Kerdchouay continues to be an excellent Advertising Manager.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Collection :

Purchases of books in Thai and Western languages have been made in several categories of interest to the Society, and particularly in Asian history, culture and religion. The Honorary Librarian has been assisted in this choice by members of the Library Committee and by the notes placed by members in the suggestion box on top of the file cabinet.

A number of worn volumes has been rebound. This is a continuing project.

The Edwin Stanton Fund :

The Fund now stands at 30,840.36 baht. The interest this year has been used to complete the Pali Text Society's series on Buddhism, and to buy Oxford Historical Reprints.

Presentations :

The Thailand Council of the Asia Society presented a number of the Asia Society's handsome exhibition catalogues.

The British Council has generously given the Society a Xerox copy of the rare Gui Tachard "Voyage to Siam by Six Jesuits" 1688, kept in the British Museum, and also works by British authors on Asia to the value of £40.

Authors Elizabeth Wray, Noel Busch and William Klausner have presented copies of their works, and books were received from the estate of Phya Surinrūchai.

Mr. Sulak Sivaraks presented books by Phya Anuman Rajadhon and others were received from USIS and from anonymous donors.

The Ford Foundation gave two copies and all future rights to the film they funded on the Nang Yai made by Banchong Kosalwat and Stephanie Krebs during the presentation at the Society in March, 1972.

The Rare Book Room has been completely redecorated, and ceiling fan, dehumidifier and new reading light installed. Some of the Society's old maps have been framed and are exhibited there.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PROGRAMME AND TRAVEL COMMITTEES

The Lecture and Travel Programmes of the Siam Society for 1972-1973 ranged over many interesting subjects and places, as instructive and pleasing a variety as was possible to devise.

The Lecture Programme was, unfortunately, poorly attended with the lighter subjects drawing a bigger house than more serious subjects. It is regretted that Society members do not take advantage of available cultural resources in larger numbers.

The Travel Programme was fully booked in nearly every instance, and consistently profitable if only by a small margin. Given the necessity to spend much time in preparation of each trip, it seems advisable to limit day trips to one per month, and overnight excursions to one every other month.

If possible, the Lecture and Travel Programmes should be co-ordinated so that a lecture on a particular subject might be followed up with a visit to a relevant site.

ANNUAL REPORT OF KAMTHIENG HOUSE COMMITTEE

The Kamthieng House was originally moved to Bangkok to serve as a museum of Northern Thai culture. Beginning in October, 1972, the Kamthieng House Committee undertook to complete the work of arranging the contents of the house so it would better serve this purpose. This required a review and partial rearrangement of the exhibits, additional labelling, and the preparation of a leaflet containing a self-guided tour of the house.

As the work involved required considerable time and professional expertise, the Kamthieng House Committee requested that the Council arrange with Mrs. Susan Riley to work part-time at the Kamthieng House. Mrs. Riley has a B.A. in Anthropology and is working towards a Ph.D; she lived for a year in rural central Thailand while her husband completed his field work for a doctorate in Anthropology; she speaks and reads Thai. Mrs. Riley agreed to devote one morning a week working at the Kamthieng House; to date she has made some rearrangements in the exhibits with the approval of the Committee, and is presently preparing the tour leaflet and labels for the exhibits. The committee is planning to add two additional display cabinets inside the house, primarily for the exhibit of textiles and other fragile objects from Northern Thailand, and is hoping to have two weavers come daily to the house to weave.

Committee Members :	Mrs. Elizabeth Wray	Chairman
	Mrs. Nisa Sheanakul
	Mrs. Susan Riley
	Mrs. Linda Bigelow
	Mrs. Ann Campbell

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FINANCIAL COMMITTEE

The financial position of the Society continues to be satisfactory. Expenses have been considerably high, owing to the heavy cost of publications and a substantial increase on postage charges. Nevertheless, we are glad to report that we have been able to show, once again, a small surplus of income over expenditure in the balancesheet for 1972.

We would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge, with profound gratitude, the receipt of Bht. 10,400.— from the Breezewood Foundation for the publication of the JSS 1973, part 1.

We must also record our grateful appreciation to the Honorary Auditor, Mr. Yukta Na Thalang and his colleagues at Sycip, Gorres, Velayo, Na Thalang & Co. for their very kind assistance and co-operation given to the Financial Committee and their excellent service rendered to the Society.

The Committee members were M.R. Patanachai Jayant, Chairman, Mrs. Katherine Buri and M.R. Kasem Siribhandhu Kasemsri.
